THE GOAL

Increase reach across the web
while maintaining strong ROAS

lululemon wanted to drive more customers to their site through online ad placements while maintaining a strong ROAS on all additional traffic.

THE SOLUTION

Extend search and shopping campaigns across highly personalized native ads lululemon extended their search and shopping campaigns to the Microsoft Audience Network – effectively tapping into search intent signals to connect with a relevant audience across the web. By reaching potential customers across channels, lululemon was able to drive greater revenue and improve the overall account ROI. To further enhance their online marketing strategy, the lululemon team launched image extensions, which helped them drive increased ad engagement. This integrated approach proved successful for this innovative athletic retailer and resulted in a revenue increase of 234% year over year and an overall ROAS of 250%.
